Ben and his wife Andrea were ready to leave the gray days of Seattle in 1998, and were in search of a place to settle down and raise their family. A place with great climate, no traffic, smog, or crime. A small community that would be a safe place and provide a sense of security for their children. And ideally, it would be an up and coming area for Ben to pursue his career in Real Estate. In the summer of 1998, they found their spot, and they moved to the Central Coast in 1999.

Immediately, Ben began work with Century 21 in Arroyo Grande. Plenty could be said here of his success there, but Ben began work in the mortgage industry in 2002. And in the spring of 2005 he began work with People's Choice Brokers. With almost a decade of experience, in both Real Estate Sales and Mortgages, Ben has plenty of knowledge to draw from in helping his clients pursue their goals of home ownership. All the while, still advocating a strong sense of financial responsibility for these...often the most significant financial decisions in anyone's lives! Rest assured you'll feel quite secure with the "wise counsel" Ben will offer you in your decision making process.
